

Web Industry Solutions – Translation Service

We currently provide translation services in the following languages:

English | Spanish | Portuguese | Chinese

Web Industry is your best choice for translation services. For the best translation services there are five main things that you need:

- ✓ Accuracy
- ✓ Dependability
- ✓ Access to Media
- ✓ Expertise in field
- ✓ Cost

The following serves as an expansion of the five things you need in translation services and why Web Industry is your best partner :

Accuracy (by a native for a native)

Our method for translating is the most accurate and consistent due to the fact that we always proof our work with a second party and the translation that the language is going into determines the contractor we will use to perform the work.

Example: If you require translation services from English to Spanish, we will use a First language Spanish translator to be sure that the intended audience understands the sort of language that is best suited for them in their native language. Having been translated by what we refer to as “by a native for a native” produces the best natural translation services you can acquire.

AND - The work is always checked (proofed) by a neutral third party for accuracy. No matter how good a translation service is, there is always room for improvement and you shouldn't be the one dealing with the correction work. In fact, it should be perfect when it comes to you the first time.

Our translation service goal for you is to provide you a final, natural and accurate translation the first time. Given the results that this method produces, we insist on a third party proofing and will always include such service in our pricing to you for any translation service you request from Webindustry.com.

Dependability

If you need translation services, chances are, you will again. We are here for you for the long term. Our founder has spent the last 15 years in the Industry and we pride ourselves in great service and dependability to you. In fact, finding a dependable solution for you is at the very center of who we are. It is in our name – Web Industry Solutions-

Translation Services are a growing part of every company who is or is looking to expand. With globalization and an ever increasingly competitive global marketplace, we know you need a dependable translation partner that you can count on for your specific industry translation work. We would love the opportunity to demonstrate our dependability to you!

Translation FAQ's

Q. How long does it take to get my Web Site translated?

A. Our average turn around time for most Web Site translations is 5 business days. However, for smaller jobs (such as translating one or two pages) we generally complete and submit within 48 hours!

Q. Which languages do you offer?

A. We provide Web Site translation services in: Chinese | Portuguese | Spanish | English

This means that we will convert a new or existing Web Site into the second language of your choice.

English to Chinese - Chinese to Spanish - Spanish to Portuguese - Chinese to English - Spanish to Chinese.

Q. How will I receive my translated material?

A. If you submit a Web Site for translation, you will receive a Web Site translated into the second language. That is the fantastic thing about our translation services. We aren't just translating text to text. We are creating a second Web Site in the language of your choice!

Q. Does Web Industry use automated tools to translate with?

A. NO. We use real people who are fluent in the language you choose. So if you need a Spanish version of your English Web Site, a Spanish speaking person will translate (and design) your new Spanish version Site. To communicate your message effectively, you have to use human translators. Automated translators will not pick up on small details that humans do. And of course, we are also duplicating embedded text on graphics and recreating that as well. Only humans will know how to correctly translate your Web Site into the language of your choice.

Access to Media

Think it through before you get a low cost solution for your translation services from a service provider that is just providing translation and not actual design. You still have to get the translation into the intended media. This means that some of the text that is being translated will need to be embedded into images and require not just language skills but also industry specific skills (like Web Design and graphic design). Your in luck! Our contractors are Graphic and Web Designers in addition to translation specialists! Two areas of specialty from one company!

Creating a second language Web Site or Multi-lingual Web Site, requires multiple skill sets. Not just the ability to translate the languages but also the design and development skill sets needed to actually make the Web Sites and other digital medium that will be used to market to the intended audiences. Keeping this reality in mind, will help you to realize the value that Web Industry provides in our translation services.

Expertise in each field

Many companies go through tremendous costs to train an internal employee in translation and also to become a digital media specialist when they could save enormous resources by sourcing their translation requirements to us. We reverse the common and expensive mistake of trying to perform translations internally and simply the process for you. We save you time and money...

Example:

You are a Petro Chemical company and need to expand into a new market.

You provide your content in the first language to us and our language specialists provide the content in the second languages of your choice through the following steps:

Researching and comparing Industry specific words and phrases used in translation to other Web Sites and resources available in that particular language. The translation is performed based on the cross sectional comparison. The work is submitted to a third party for review and any mistakes are corrected. The work is then submitted for you to review / adjust as needed prior to approval.

So, by performing this additional due diligence, we can better guarantee the effectiveness of our translation to you and that the translation work will provide the results that you desire in the second languages that you choose from us.

Cost

We provide exceptional services and solutions at exceptional prices! The availability of many resources all over the world and in native languages for us creates a perfect scenario to benefit you and your company.
